

SILK STRIKE ENDING.

Ribbon Weavers and Broad Silk Workers to Confer with Bosses.

PATERSON, N. J., July 20.—Some 5,000 persons attended the Sunday meeting of the silk strikers at Haledon, just across the river from this place, this afternoon. The speakers were Haywood, Carlo Tresca, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, and Alexander Scott, the editor of The Weekly Issue of Passaic. The speeches were much the same as those made by the leaders throughout the strike.

To-morrow morning the police expect trouble when some of the strikers return to work in the mills. Practically all the mounted men have been ordered to duty in the vicinity of the mills.

In the next few days the shop meetings of the ribbon weavers and broad silk workers will be held in their own shops, and the men will take up the question of hours and wages with their bosses. It is expected that by the middle of the week many of these men will be back at their work.

IN NEW JERSEY.

HACKENSACK.—The North Jersey Rapid Transit Company has offered a reward of $150 for the arrest and conviction of the persons who have been putting obstructions on the tracks north of Ridgewood.

HACKENSACK.—The West Shore Railroad officials provided a free special train for the fellow-employees of F. J. Bandholtz, for years a freight agent at the Weehawken Terminal, so that they might attend his funeral from his late home at Dumont.

MONTCLAIR.—The Grangers' picnic for the farmers of Essex, Morris, and Union Counties will be held at Vernon Lake on Thursday, Aug. 21.

MONTCLAIR.—John Lenord Merrill, who is State President of the Sons of the American Revolution, has named his committee for New Jersey, to mark the route of Gen. Washington from Philadelphia to Cambridge, to consist of David L. Pierson, Historian General of the National Society; Dr. George H. Richards, Registrar of the New Jersey Society, and N. Perry Howell of Newark Chapter.

TRENTON.—Friends of Thomas J. Marion, a railroad man, have applied for a Carnegie hero medal for him for stopping a runaway horse and saving four small children in a wagon from being run over and killed by a railroad train.

TRENTON.—Former Gov. Edward C. Stokes has said that if the rank and file of Republicans of the State desire him to become a candidate for Governor, he "would give the matter his most careful consideration." It is believed that a majority of Republicans would support Stokes in the Republican primaries.

TRENTON.—William L. Tickell, a Trenton pottery salesman, has been granted a divorce from Mrs. Lillian F. Tickell of Malden, Mass., because she would not come to Trenton and make her home with him. Tickell showed in his bill for divorce that he had made every effort to induce his wife to come to Trenton to live, but she refused to do it.

FLEMINGTON.—Cornelius Lewis, 59 years old, caretaker of Model Fortune, Harry L. Stout's fast trotting horse, was found dead of heart disease at the Flemington Fair Grounds, yesterday.
